In summary, the !Kung formulate and verbalize marriage regulations in three generations, namely, (1) ego's and (2) the first ascending and (3) the first descending generations. Marriage with kin in the other ascending and descending generations, great-grandparents, great-grandchildren, grandparents, grandchildren, is not specifically allowed, but specific prohibitions are not formulated, because to the !Kung these relatives do not fall within the range of potential marriage partners.

The prohibition includes all the primary affines (see Chapter 6) except BrWi, WiSi, SiHu, and HuBr, with whom marriage is allowed. In addition to the primary affines, two categories of secondary affines are included, WiSiDa and HuBrSo and the parents of BrWi and SiHu.
